Tedako Festival

Urasoe hosts a variety of activities and festivals each year, but the biggest and most popular is the Tedako Matsuri. The Tedako Matsuri features a range of colorful activities, including taiko drum performances, concert fireworks display, all of which are held boat races, and a festive atmosphere, like a refreshing breeze to "blow away the heat of summer".

Additionally, the festival celebrates "The Kingdom of the Sun", Urasoe's its main program. This is a celebration of the three most prominent rule of Kings Shintenn, Eisō and Sattō. Under the kings of Urasoe. Under the employed 220 years of prosperity, displayed in this festival through a large-scale song and dance performance. With as many as 1,000 people performing, this huge event captivates both citizens and visitors alike.

The Tedako Walk

At present, the event known nation-wide as the "Tedako Walk" attracts around 7,000 participants each year, making it the largest such event in the prefecture. The walk takes place in February, just before kamihizakura are in full bloom. The Tedako Walk is also widely known as one of the big three "signs of spring" in Urasoe. Experiencing the natural beauty of the city while also getting to walk all over Urasoe with people from all around the country is all just part of the fun!

Urasae Ori

Urasae Ori is a beautiful natural silk product made by extracting thread from silk cocoons and then coloring the threads with plant extract as a part of a plan to expand industrial growth in Urasae. Creating Ori by extracting silk from silkworms is a famous and characteristic part of Urasae culture. The beauty of Urasae Ori comes from the style with which it is made, of its flexibility and weightlessness of its threads and the luster of its texture.

Teda-Kuwacha

In the silk industry, there was a substantial problem at least during the summer season when typhoons are prevalent and silkworms are not raised. With the goal of creating a product that would most effectively used coordinating with the National Institute of Technology - Okinawa College and the Okinawa Prefectural Industrial Technology Center to create what would eventually become "Kuwacha" (Mulberry Tea), a product made from dried up mulberry leaves. Additionally, you can purchase sweets made from mulberry and liqueur made of mulberry as souvenirs of Urasae.
